The Association of Heads of University Administration (AHUA) has just launched an 'Associate Member' category for Registrars/COOs working in overseas institutions with degree awarding powers.

About the AHUA

The AHUA is the representative body for senior university managers (Registrars, Chief Operating Officers, University Secretaries) in the UK and Ireland. It brings together members to exchange information about HE policy and university management, share knowledge and experience, and to develop colleagues who aim to fill senior roles in the sector.
